Holiday markets

West Town

'Tis the season to avoid pending Black Friday chaos with pre-Thanksgiving shopping at craft markets and annual gift sales. This weekend, there are plenty to choose from, whether you're browsing for jewelry, paper goods, tree ornaments or honest-to-goodness art. If you go to just one, don't miss the annual DIY Trunk Show (Pulaski Park Fieldhouse, 1419 W. Blackhawk St.), filled with nearly 100 talented crafters selling one-of-a-kind wares, including delightfully snarky stationery and Chicago-centric cards from 16 Sparrows and copper cuffs and earrings from fugudesigns (right). Free.

When: 10 a.m.-5 p.m. Saturday

More crafty shopping

Streeterville Artisan Market

The goods: Paintings, photography, jewelry and apparel from 50 area artists. Free.

Details: 10 a.m.-3 p.m. Saturday; 11 a.m.-5 p.m. Sunday at Northwestern University Lurie Research Center Ryan Family Atrium, 303 E. Superior St. soarchicago.org

Football at Wrigley

Wrigleyville

Goalposts at the Friendly Confines? That's right. And sidelines and end lines too. College football in-state rivals Northwestern Wildcats and Illinois Fighting Illini face off for the ballpark's first football game since the Bears last played there 40 years ago. Tickets technically are sold out (that doesn't mean you can't find a few online if you want 'em), but for the chance to be part of the stadium's football history, get tickets to Sunday's Touchdown on Wrigley Field. For $50, you'll get 50 minutes on the (football) field to throw passes, party on the end zone, sip hot chocolate and generally feel like a pro. Tickets: cubs.com

Thanksgiving reservations

Loop

Welcome to your last weekend to figure out plans for Thanksgiving. If basting a turkey and peeling potatoes isn't in the cards, going out is the next best option. We're partial to cheap-loving deals at spots like River Shannon (425 W. Armitage Ave. 312-944-5087), offering a free dinner and sides with a drink purchase, but swank restaurant Elate (111 W. Huron St. 312-202-9900) offers a meal including chestnut soup, herb-roasted turkey and lots more. Call ASAP for reservations.

When: Go to metromix.com or Page 9 for a full-course meal of T-Day restaurant options.

SPARK

The holiday season

Santa songs at major department stores and gift guides in the mail signal the unrelenting start of the holidays. Embrace it at Michigan Avenue's season-starting centerpiece:

Magnificent Mile Lights Festival (Oak Street to Wacker Drive). Brace yourself for navigating the busy scene while hearing fam-friendly live music (11 a.m.-3:45 p.m.) from Choo-Choo Soul and Justin Roberts. As always, Mickey and Minnie Mouse do their magic (5:30 p.m.), lighting up one million sparklers along the Mag Mile. Also in tow are "American Idol" singers Crystal Bowersox and Siobhan Magnus, plus Jon Michael Hill of ABC's "Detroit 1-8-7."

When: 5:30 p.m. Saturday

BRITISH INVASION!

It was a big week for our pals from across the pond. Here's the rundown on imported English wackiness in the past few days.

Harry situation

Get ready, Harry Potter fans. Part 1 of "The Deathly Hallows," the conclusion to the wildly popular British books, hits theaters this weekend.

Yeah, yeah, yeah

The Beatles are finally on iTunes. Despite a history of legal mumbo-jumbo between the band's reps and Apple, the UK's most famous exports now are only a click away on the world's largest digital music service.

The royal treatment

After nearly a decade of courtship, Prince William and Kate Middleton finally got engaged. He gave her his late mother's ring, which ranks somewhere between sweet and creepy.

Talking turkey

By John Lendman | FOR REDEYE

Forget the chaos of cooking for your big family. The real Thanksgiving anxiety lies in conversing with them.

Coming up with small talk around the dinner table can be brutal, especially for big families who rarely see each other. How to deal? As a rule, hashing out political views, hitting on hot-button issues or prying into personal lives are no-nos for unwanted banter, Etiquette Chicago consultant Melenie Broyles said.

If you're a newbie at the table, your prime objective should be getting to know the people around you, said Broyles, who conducts corporate etiquette training with Chicago marketing, public relations and client-schmoozing firms. It's a carefully crafted art.

Keep an eye out for visual cues such as photographs, diplomas and unique objects in the host's home, so you can ask about their time acquiring it. "Oh, did you take this picture in Italy yourself?" for example, or "How long have you been collecting those vinyl records?"

If you're visiting out of town, read up on the neighborhood or local sports teams to break the ice. "Check out some things that might be of common interest," Broyles said. "People love to talk about themselves."

If conversation does get awkward—and well, we've all been there—we've got you covered. Memorize a few of these by-the-numbers Thanksgiving stats and you'll look like the most interesting guest at the table. Get studying. The big day is, gulp, this week!

Wizard snoozer

No more of those romantic shenanigans from "Harry Potter and the Half-Blood Prince." With Dumbledore (Michael Gambon) dead, Harry (Daniel Radcliffe), Hermione (Emma Watson) and Ron (Rupert Grint) get serious in their efforts to at last defeat super-evil You-Know-Who (Ralph Fiennes), who's getting stronger and uglier—but not any more interesting.

The buzz: The seventh and final book in J.K. Rowling's mega-zillion-dollar series was so hefty that director David Yates and writer Steve Kloves divided the story in two, with the finale arriving in July. Hopefully, "Deathly Hallows: Part 1" feels more tightly plotted than "Half-Blood Prince," which thrived on lighthearted cheer that's virtually absent from the latest and mostly humorless installment.

The verdict: This "Potter's" a plodder. Every magical term and new ability is either under- or over-explained, though there's no defending the pointless Nazi allegory found in the Dark Lord's goal of establishing a master race of "pureblood" wizards. Occasional moments, like Harry's near-drown-ing, achieve the necessary intensity. All the other action is just dry and/or incoherent, blending badly with awkward stabs at comedy and main characters whose emotional terrain has become redundant. Rowling's books are beloved for their richness. The boring, aimless "Part 1," with its increased array of people dully pointing wands and firing sparks at each other, feels like reading every other sentence from every other page. MATT PAIS IS THE METROMIX MOVIES AND MUSIC PRODUCER. A host of possibilities

These Chicago events could use homes away from home

RedEye
Borrowing another team's venue is becoming popular among Chicago-area teams. The Blackhawks and Detroit played the 2009 Winter Classic at Wrigley Field, Illinois and Northwestern bring their intrastate football rivalry to the Friendly Confines on Saturday, and Notre Dame and Army will play on a Yankee Stadium gridiron this weekend. That got us thinking: What other area events should be held at alternate sites?

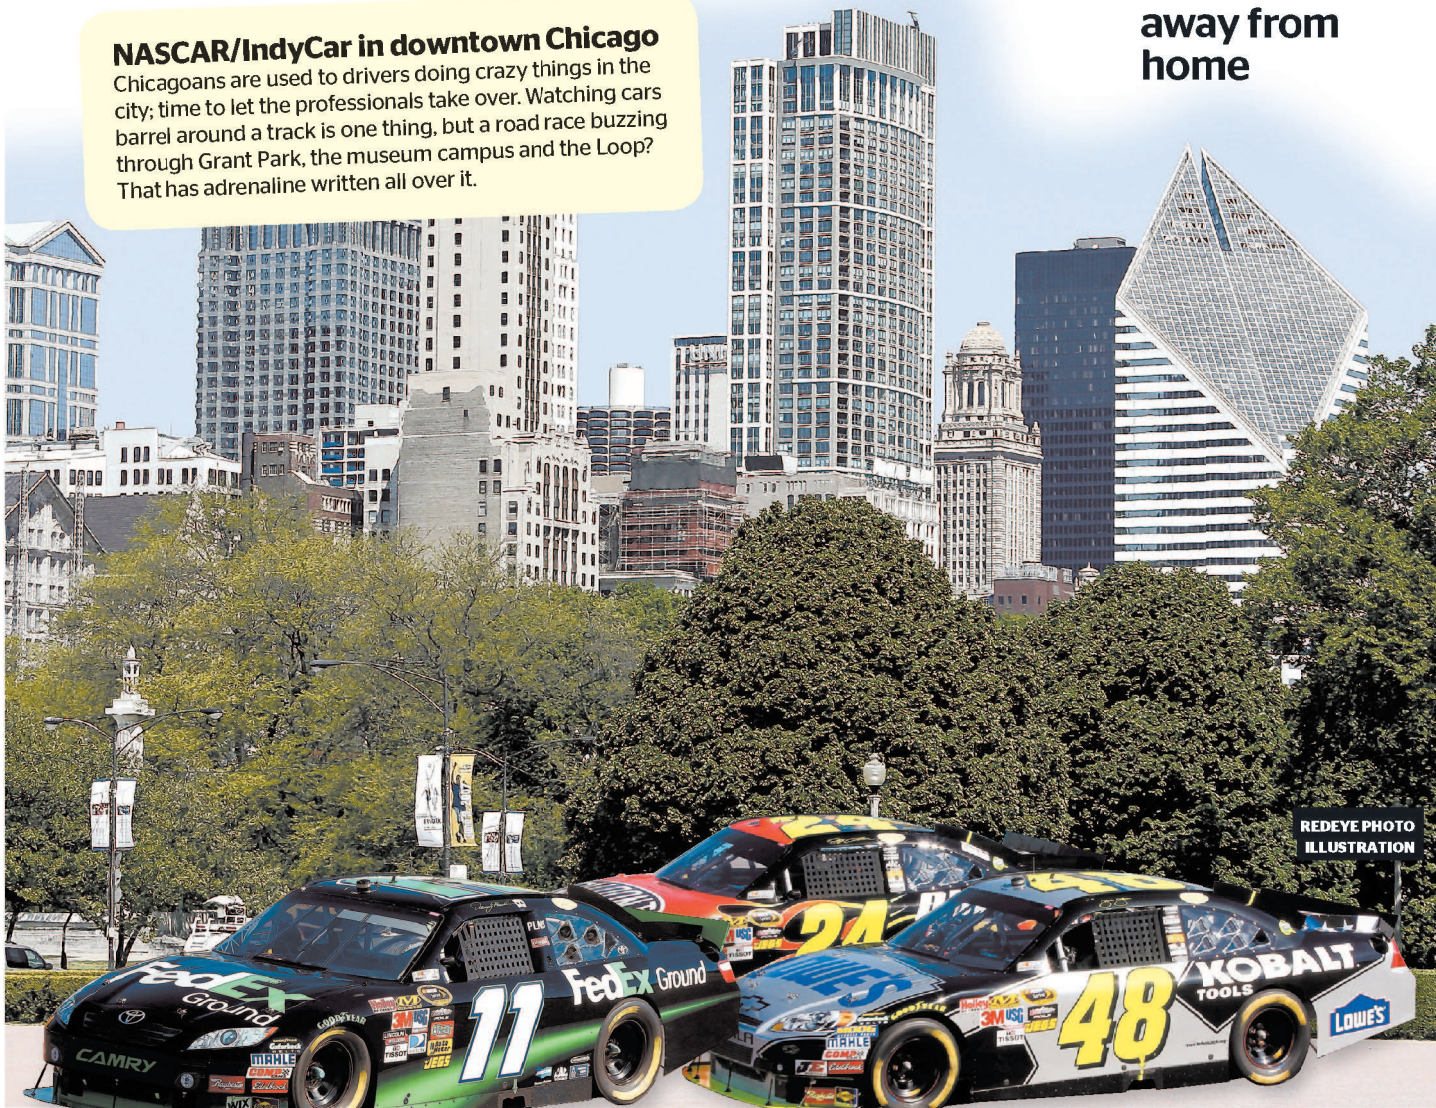

Fire at United Center
Take soccer, cram it into a space the size of a hockey rink and what do you get? A sport that's a lot like pinball. Players can get pretty creative when they use the walls to their advantage, and if you blink, you'll probably miss a goal.

Bulls at U.S. Cellular Field
Jerry Reinsdorf owns the White Sox and Bulls, so he certainly could deliver some outdoor hoops to the South Side. Chicago native Derrick Rose's knowledge would give the Bulls the home-wind advantage too. Just do it early in the season, so the teams don't have to play with gloves on.

Bandits at Wrigley Field
This could be more of a swap based on merit. The Bandits have a 2008 National Pro Fastpitch championship to their credit, while the Cubs mostly just make a mess of things. Until the North Siders get their act together, let the ladies play in front of 40,000 fans.

NASCAR/IndyCar in downtown Chicago

Chicagoans are used to drivers doing crazy things in the city; time to let the professionals take over. Watching cars barrel around a track is one thing, but a road race buzzing through Grant Park, the museum campus and the Loop? That has adrenaline written all over it.

What should worry the Hawks most about their game in Vancouver on Saturday?	The cost of taking a taxi.	Bedbugs.	Gang violence. Seriously. And the wait at the border. Damn Peace Arch.	If they scream "Byfuglien!" when they skate past Roberto Luongo, they'll be just fine.	Watch out for falling Roberto Luongos. He's due for his annual Hawks meltdown.

Enter a number between 1 and 9 in the empty squares. The clues are the numbers in the white circles that give the sum of the solution numbers: above the line are across clues; below the line are down clues. Thus, a clue of 3 will produce a solution of 2 and 1, and a 5 will produce 4 and 1, or 2 and 3, but, of course, which squares they go in will depend on the solution of a clue in the other direction. No digit can be repeated in a solution. Answer at redvechicago.com/puzzles. EDITED BY MICHAEL MEPHAM

Make a 2- to 7-letter word from the letters in each row. Add points of each word, using scoring directions at right. Finally, 7-letter words get a 50-point bonus. "Blanks" used as any letter have no point value. All the words are in the Official Scrabble Players Dictionary, 4th Edition. Find the answer at redevechicago.com/puzzles.

TRIBUNE FILE

SOUTHERN COMFORT?

Lollapalooza founder Perry Farrell
GETTY IMAGES FILE

Bet you didn't call this one: Event organizers announced Friday that in addition to its Aug. 5-7 dates in Chicago, Lollapalooza also will spend a weekend in Chile in 2011, rocking April 2-3 in O'Higgins Park. No bands have been announced yet, but if South America gets Led Zeppelin and we don't, we will freak out. A lot.

Oprah's faves

A $2,475 diamond watch, a digital SLR camera, a 3-D TV, five years of Netflix and a cruise were among the "favorite" items the queen of talk gave away on Friday's episode of "The Oprah Winfrey Show." Her audience was made up of "ultimate viewers" and philanthropic folks. "Oprah's Favorite Things, Part 2" airs Monday.

Getting bossy

Step aside Mayor Daley, there's a new "Boss" in town. Starz has ordered eight episodes of "Boss," which will star Kelsey Grammer (above) as the mayor of Chicago, Variety reports. The show is being described as a "modern-day 'Spartacus,'" according to Variety.

HOT DATE

Nov. 27

That's when "True Blood" hottie Ryan Kwanten will celebrate his 34th birthday at The Underground (56 W. Illinois). The party kicks off at 9 p.m., according to publicists.

'Glee' around the world

Book those plane tickets to London, Gleebs. The cast of "Glee" is heading across the pond June 22-July 3 for a concert series, Fox announced Friday. Cities on the tour include London, Dublin and Manchester. In other news, "Glee" kids reached their first top slot on digital sales charts Thursday with their rendition of Katy Perry's "Teenage Dream."

CBS

Hot topic for Turkey Day

"Mike & Molly" will get its say about the controversial "Should 'Fatties' Get a Room?" blog post during the CBS sitcom's Thanksgiving episode on Monday. "It's a very eloquently put thing that I get to say at the Thanksgiving speech that kind of says everything we feel," show star Billy Gardell said to Entertainment Weekly.
